

How do I protect myself?

Travel in groups

Pour your own drinks

The first part of the paper discusses the importance of understanding the local context in which a project is implemented. This includes a thorough analysis of the social, economic, and cultural factors that may influence the success or failure of the intervention. The authors argue that a one-size-fits-all approach is often ineffective, and that tailoring the program to the specific needs and characteristics of the community is essential for achieving sustainable results.

In the second section, the authors present a detailed description of the intervention itself. They outline the theoretical framework that informs the program, the specific activities and components that make up the intervention, and the methods used to deliver the program. This section provides a clear and comprehensive overview of the project, allowing readers to understand the scope and nature of the work being undertaken.

The third part of the paper focuses on the evaluation of the intervention. The authors describe the methods used to collect and analyze data, and present the findings of the evaluation. They discuss the extent to which the intervention achieved its intended goals, and identify the factors that contributed to its success or failure. This section provides a critical assessment of the program's impact and offers valuable insights into the effectiveness of the intervention.

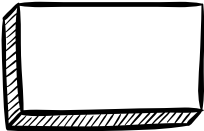

Finally, the authors conclude the paper by discussing the implications of their findings for future research and practice. They highlight the key lessons learned from the study and offer recommendations for how the findings can be applied to other contexts. The authors emphasize the importance of continued research and evaluation in order to refine and improve the intervention, and to ensure that it remains relevant and effective in the face of changing circumstances.

If someone makes you feel unsafe, talk to your school about a “No Contact Directive” or Restraining Order

*This is not a restrictive

next

Designate a friend who won't drink at a party to make sure you and your friends are safe

Most Importantly, Remember...

Anyone can be a survivor

It is not your fault.

Sexual abuse does not discriminate based on gender,
sexuality, race, religion

Next

*Members of oppressed communities may have a higher risk of sexual violence

How do I protect myself?

Travel in groups

If someone makes you feel unsafe, talk to your school about a “No Contact Directive” or Restraining Order

Pour your own drinks

Designate a friend who won't drink at a party to make sure you and your friends are safe

Next

*This is not an exhaustive list

Most Importantly, Remember...

It is not your fault.

Anyone can be a survivor

Sexual abuse does not discriminate* based on gender, sexuality, race, religion, etc.

Next

*Members of oppressed communities may have a higher risk of sexual violence